TIGER FISHES BEGIN SEASON

SWIMMING PRACTICE BEGINS

Manager Schwettmann Calls For Recruits

Harken all ye to the call for the ducks, fishes, submarines, and anything that can stay above the water. Manager Ostrafarous Schwettmann has asked that an announcement be made to all the lovers of the water that the swimming team is now under way and all those who care to show what they have pertaining to Pluto, Neptune, and all the rest of the he-gods and she-gods of the water will report to his majesty at the swimming hole in the "Y" any night between the hours of six-thirty and seven-thirty. The bashful ones need not be bashful because they will be assured that no ladies will be present during the practice occasions as the ladies have kindly consented to turn the pool over to the boys for at least one hour each day. The water-headed manager of the water ducks further states that bathing suits are unnecessary but if you have a belt and a pair of water wings it will be a wise plan to bring these articles of wearing apparel along. Mr. Schwettmann also states that several meets are under way and that a number of trips have been planned, therefore anyone who can swim or who would like to know whether he can swim or not should not miss the chance of being one of the Tigers to represent the Purple and Gold in the water.

CLEMSON MAN HEADS AUTO FIRM

C. M. McCue, '18, Is Now Owner of Garage in Anderson

C. M. McCue, of class '18, is now running a garage in Anderson. He has sent over an invitation for all Clemson men to make his place their headquarters while in the city. Beside this he is sticking by his Alma Mater by placing an advertisement in our columns. The Tiger believes in the policy of helping those who help Clemson, therefore we are asking all men from Tigertown to give this loyal Tiger their support and business. The location and nature of his business may be seen in the advertising columns of this paper.

Two "Twos" One Won

TIGERS DRAW AN ACE WITH A PAIR OF DEUCES

Wofford Five Win First Game of Season—Tigers Trim Furman But Fail To Repeat at Columbia—Colbert and Schenck Play Great Ball in First Game—Wofford Score Is Close but Gamecock Five Put One Over Tiger Bunch.

And then we ain't saying who dealt the cards but the guy who did it sure handed "Country's" bunch of basket tossers a deal that could not pick up in a game of casino. The Tigers put up a scrap in both games lost but somehow it just couldn't be done and when the final whistle blew the Tigers were anywhere except at the top of the score. The Furman bunch acted more respectable to their visitors and the Tigers romped around the Baptists in a style that classed with winning ball.

The Wofford five blew into camp during the mess hour at Tigertown and with them came their coach, "Rip" Major, a man well known in athletic circles at Clemson, especially as an umpire of the American game. At the toll of four bells and thirty minutes official timekeeper, Henry, announced the fact that it was time for the scrap to begin. Unsuspecting, the Tigers entered the fray and the first half went true to dope. When the second half of the game began the Clemsonites were on the top of the roost with four points ahead of their opponents. But woe be that second half. Wofford came back with a rush and before long the scrappy five of Clemson was ousted from the top ring. This seemed to gall the fighting spirit which the men of the foothills acquire at Clemson, and from that point on the game swung back and forth and when the final toot sounded Mr. Scorer figured hard and long and then calmly announced that Clemson had 39 points and that Wofford stood at the top of the list with 40 points to their credit. And thus ended the sad story.

'T would be a difficult task indeed to pick the stars of the stars of the game but after resolving to the "box car and bird eye" method of elimination, Colbert of Oklahoma and Captain Schenck of North Carolina fame receive the laurels of the day. Colbert was the mainstay of the Tigers and Schenck did not come far behind the Westerner in throwing goals. A certain slender chap of apparently decided Yiddish origin had a knack of tossing 'em in from any angle of the court and 'twas the good eye of this same guy that won the game for the Terriers.

Win from Furman

The second card dealt turned out to be the only ace in the Tiger's hand. And then the Clemson court men were still sore over the Wofford game so Furman had to play the goat as someone had to be it. Coach Morris took his aggregation of players over to the village of Greenville on Saturday afternoon and play commenced some time that same evening. Clemson opened strong and the first half ended with the Tigers having just twice as many points as did their Baptist host. Furman played better ball during the second part of the show but were never able to overcome the lead taken by the Clemsonites. The final count of the game

Student Body Loses Member

CORPS IS SADDENED BY DEATH OF CADET

Untimely Death of Jimmie Carpenter Shocks Student Body

The whole corps was deeply saddened during the early hours of Wednesday morning when the news became current that Jimmy Carpenter had passed from its number. His death has caused a pall over the entire campus which time alone can remove. This untimely death will be deeply mourned and his loss profoundly felt by all who knew him.

Several weeks ago he was taken ill with mumps and by Tuesday he was thought to have practically recovered. On Tuesday night, however, he went to sleep, near eleven o'clock, suffered heart-failure, and died about a half-hour later, without waking. His body was taken to Hartsville, S. C., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carpenter, and a host of friends mourn his death. A memorial exercise was held in his honor Wednesday afternoon in the college chapel. An escort composed of Messrs. Gandy, Dunlap, Banks, Sompayrac, and Campbell, accompanied the body to its home.

Jimmie Carpenter was a member of the Freshman class, a member of the cadet band and a very prominent student in every respect. He was a boy of strong personality—to know him was to like him. Although having been in the corps only since September, he had won for himself a host of friends, partly because of his sunny smile and disposition, and partly because of his sterling worth. Among his intimate friends he was naturally a favorite, and especially was this true among the members of the band, with whom he was closely associated. He had proven himself to be kind-hearted, generous, manful, and in every way a "good fellow".

The Freshman class of Clemson College, having met, adopted the following resolutions: Be it resolved, 1. That the Freshman class extends its heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved family of Cadet J. R. Carpenter.

2. That Cadet Carpenter was an outstanding member of his class, respected and loved by his classmates.

3. That his manly character was a source of inspiration to those with whom he was associated.

4. That his death came as a shock to his classmates whose sorrow is deeply manifested.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his parents, The Tiger, and The Hartsville Messenger.

Signed, Freshman Class, Per H. W. Divine, Chmn.

Integrity is "squareness"—a state of being "on the level" with everything and everybody. It is always unselfish and is the first step in co-operation; it upholds the rights of the other fellow. Integrity is the one subject on which every person is easily capable of making "E". Efficiency in this connection will be of greater value to college work and to undertakings in after life than efficiency in any other. Integrity is like a bank balance that is never overdrawn; that perpetually stays on the right side of the page and in the right color ink.

After all, we are fooling nobody. Those with whom we come in contact can read from our very actions and countenances our characters. It is not a matter of doubt and uncertainty—something to be guessed at and "caught up with" but something that is easily apparent and self-evident. The real purpose for all dishonest work is personal gain. Instead of resulting in gain, however, it causes the worst of reputations and the most miserable of failures. This is not only a fact regarding college work but is applicable the world over in all walks of business and society. A man who is not known to be square on everything, even tho he may have money, is not respected; he is not relied upon; he is not the kind of security that even another crook desires.

"Skinning" is the opposite kind of action that springs from integrity. While skinning in itself is not regarded by many as dishonesty, the principle is all the same and is unquestionably a step in the direction of crooked dealings.

Wouldn't an honor system put everybody at Clemson "on a level"—and more than that on the right track to a happy future both in a business and social way?

"JAZZ BIRDS"—ATTENTION

Possibly a word or so on the Terpsichorean art will not be out of place before Garbi-Davis orchestra announces their first "jazz hit". The long-looked-for night of February 6 is now close enough to the present to merit close and considerate attention; everybody expects it to be one of those grand old "affairs" comparable with the Junior-Senior banquet in the spring. No doubt the bewildering femininity that will grace the campus on both these occasions will be ample excuse for—well, fluctuations of stocks, sleeping thru reveille, and numerous other trifles.

The writer has a premonition that on the night of the dance everybody's feet will feel as if equipped with a pair of dandy good "jolly balances," i.e., jazz bubbling out all over, but don't get excited that night and remember that you are in the dance hall at Clemson and not demonstrating for "The Follies" in New York or being photographed for the next number of Cosmopolitan. Nobody doubts that you did learn a very fascinating "variety" of the "camel walk" but withhold it until summer and very probably by that time you will have forgotten it, or it will have become out-of-date. At any rate, let's hope so.

It's the good apple tree that has the most clubs thrown at it.

A buzz saw can teach an inquisitive man more in a minute than the best professors can teach him in a life time.

Some men make up in abuse what they lack in ideas.

It is with pleasure that we learn of the plans which have been made to edit the South Carolina Press Association Magazine. At the last meeting of that body the idea of a State college publication was brought before the assembly by Miss Townsend of Anderson College. To see her idea thus taking form is indeed enough to make her college and her friends proud of her. The committee which was appointed at the meeting of the association held its first meeting not long ago in the city of Greenwood and decided that the publication should become a reality. Miss Worth of Converse College is to be the editor of the magazine. Miss Worth is one of the most talented and accomplished college writers in the South today and as editor-in-chief of this new publication she is certain to make a success. The material for the paper is to be furnished by the colleges which are members of the Press Association. The magazine is to be called the Palmetto Magazine and is to be published four times each year. The staffs of both the Tiger and the Chronicle assure the members of the Association that they are always ready to promote anything for the betterment of college publications and for the promulgation of greater fellowship between the institutions of the state.

WHY THE GROUCH?

There are times in every fellow's life when he could almost eat a keg of nails. It's natural. There are things that cause them. It is simply human nature to be on a grouch sometimes. Every fellow has his ups and downs in life, his cheerful periods and his grouchy ones.

A fellow is none the less a man when he has a grouch, but he is more the man when he gets rid of one.

The man who can smile when everything goes wrong is the real man. The fellow who carries the cheerful grin when the load is the heaviest is the man to admire.

Get the smile habit. A cheerful countenance carries you where a frown would never thing of going. If you want a ticket on the road to Success, you must smile for that is the only purchase price.

Smile even when you are alone. It makes you feel like you are in good company.

Get a cheerful grin on that mug of yours and then keep it there.

At the Faculty entertainment in the gym before Christmas, the "wiser heads" engaged in a string-chewing contest. The one who chewed the greatest length of string was to receive a prize. Miss Carey Calhoun's friends are glad to learn that she will spend the remainder of the winter at home.

Love's Allegory

HE—
You are gladness, you are sunshine.
You are happiness, I trow.
You are all to me, my darling—
That is love here below.

SHE—
You are splendor, you are glory.
You are handsome, you are true;
All there is this side of heaven,
I behold, my love, in you.

HER PA—
I am lightning, I am thunder,
I'm a roaring cataract;
I am earthquakes and volcanoes,
And I'll demonstrate the fact.

HE—
I am nervous, I am shaky.
Am I frightened? I'll say so.
Dearest girl, you know I love you,
But I guess I best had go.

Joe Frank Garner, our "Caruso", will sing a quartette at the Glee Club entertainment.

"J. Y.": "Well, what key is that in?"

Extra! Extra!! Extra!!! "Suber" Allen has smiled.

Songbird Cooper, of "B" Company (while at rest on drill): "Boys, I will now sing you a duet."

Break, break, break, on thy cold grey stones, oh gee!

And I would that again those five dollar bills

Would come rolling back to me. Yes, the stately dimes go by, And so does the big dollar bill, But oh, for the touch of the money that's gone,

And the sound of a clink that is still.

Dr. Keesler has had wide experience and he will no doubt give a very interesting talk. He desires to speak to all men who are going to live in rural communities and who expect to employ colored labor. The talk will be an interesting one to all who are interested in the adjustment of labor and social problems between races.

The swimming pool is now in good order and practice is going on daily. A number of men are out for practice every day. If you can swim come down and join them. Take part in the cleanest of all sports.

The Freshmen seem to be the winners of the last series of the class football games. They will play the Seniors for the class championship.

ended with the men from Tigertown on the big end of a 38 to 23 score. Black, for Clemson, ran wild, shooting seven field goals and scraping through the game without having a foul counted against him.

Carolina Proves Second Deuce

The Tigers paired up their deuce when they met the Gamecock in Columbia on Monday night. Just the same old story—court larger than the usual size of court and anyhow it is just as well to let some of 'em win once in a while or else they might get sore and stop playing Clemson altogether. Carolina raked together 22 points and should the Tigers have been able to knock down 23 points the game would have been theirs, but as it was the quint from the foothills could get only 15 points. The State was so kind as to mention the name of Mr. Colbert as the out-standing star of the game, therefore we will follow in the footsteps of the State and claim that the gentleman from the West carries off the laurels of the day. Carolina's entire team starred, as every member of the five took a bath after the contest.

CHEMISTRY SCIENCE CLUB HOLDS MEETING

After being repeatedly mistaken for christian scientists, sections 70 Junior and Senior, held its regular meeting last Tuesday night in Dr. Brackett's classroom. After roll-call and reading of the minutes, Mr. Bolivar Byers was unanimously elected secretary. Three very interesting and instructive papers were then given. The first was by Mr. Boggs, who discussed "Cotton-seed oil, its chemistry, uses, and importance." The second was by Mr. Stanford whose subject was "Chemistry and the South." The third was a paper by Mr. Griffin on the life of Sir Humphrey Davy. These papers were discussed very critically by those present, many being called upon extemporaneously for their opinions on the topics discussed. After the regular program there was a short business meeting, and then the motion for adjournment was carried.

CHARLESTON COUNTY CLUB HOLDS OYSTER ROAST

The Bottrymen duly celebrated the great event—Lee's Birthday—by dis-posing of a large barrel of oysters—those succulent bi-valves which are so wont to tickle the palates of all lovers of sea-foods.

Though some of the members of the club were unfortunate enough to be absent, due to the influence of the holiday, those who participated in the big doin's left the scene of the feast satisfied fully, and full, satis-fied.

The club expects to hold a dupli-cate of this roast some time in the near future, and this date is eagerly looked forward to by all of the mem-bers.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

The Columbian

The Columbian held its regular meeting on last Friday evening. The society was called to order by the president, W. D. Moore. After the devotional exercise the programme was taken up. The orator of the evening, J. M. Leland, gave a good oration on, "The Task Before College Students." W. H. Ramsay, the declaimer, chose for his subject, "It's All in the State of the Mind." The reader of the evening, A. E. Kay, read us a humorous selection from the domestic life of Mrs. Croswell, the minister's wife. D. K. Summers, the humorist of the evening, pulled a few well chosen jokes. The last number on the programme was the debate. The query of the debate was, Resolved, "That the Government was justified in taking over the Coal Mines and operating them while the Strike was in progress." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. J. L. McGowan and G. F. Ricker, while the negative was successfully upheld by M. L. Keyserling and W. F. Wyatt. After the reports of the various committees the society adjourned.

Wade Hampton

The Wade Hampton held one of the best meetings of its history last Friday night. Improvement is now the watchword of its members. The whole program was carried out with pep and enthusiasm. The orator, Mr. J. H. Hunter, delivered an excellent oration on "The Conditions that Exist in the Public Schools." Mr. A. N. Allan gave a good declamation on "God Bless the Man Who Invented Sleep." Mr. J. J. Bissel read an interesting paper concerning the development and worth of the telephone. The essayist, Mr. J. P. Smith read a well-written paper on the reconstruction period. The humorist, Mr. Leitner, gave us some real "meaty" jokes. The query for debate was very timely, Resolved, "That the Government should make laws governing strikes." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Wallace and Bratton, the negative by Messrs. Rogers and Steinmeyer. After a weighty decision, the judges decided in favor of the affirmative. Two visitors handed in petitions for membership. We are always glad to welcome visitors to our society. Come out and see the work that we are doing.

Carolina

The Carolina Literary Society held its regular meeting last Friday night. The meeting was called to order by L. D. Harris, the president. The first four members on the program being absent, it was decided that we have the debate. The query for debate was, Resolved, "That more good can be derived from an agricultural course than from an engineering course." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. C. S. Addy and E. H. Rawls, and the negative was upheld by Messrs. W. J. Erwin and S. Givner. A good deal of preparation was shown by the debaters, and many good points were brought out. The debate was won by Messrs. Erwin and Givner for the negative side. R. L. Coleman entertained us with a number of good jokes.

Palmetto

The first meeting of the Palmetto since the holidays, was held on Friday night. Mr. Barnette led in prayer. After the roll call and reading of the minutes, the exercises for the evening were taken up. The debate, Resolved, "That the United States should declare war on Mexico immediately," was very good. Messrs. McKenzie and Inabinet represented the affirmative, while Messrs. Dillard and Tyler argued for the negative. Messrs. Till and Breland both had good declamations. Both orators had good orations. Mr. O'Dell gave some entertaining jokes.

The question of the annual celebration was taken up. Messrs. E. F. Farmer and G. B. Patrick volunteered for orators. The volunteers for declaimers were Messrs. E. T. Anderson, D. F. Parkins, E. M. Jenkins, and L. S. Sansbury. Messrs. R. M. Barnette, T. D. Truluck, and T. H. Burgess volunteered as debaters. The meeting as a whole was very good.

Hayne

The Hayne Literary Society held its regular meeting last Friday night. The declaimer, Mr. Watson, rendered a very good declamation, his subject being, "The Value of Physical Training." Mr. Hollingsworth gave a very interesting essay. The joker, Mr. Going, told several good jokes which were enjoyed by all. The query of the debate was a very interesting one: Resolved, "That criminals under eighteen years of age should be sent to a reformatory rather than to a prison." Both sides were ably upheld. Many good points were produced by both sides. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. R. Smith and Refo, and the negative by Messrs. Copeland and Holly. Everybody is cordially invited to be out to our meeting next Friday night. A good program is promised to all who attend.

Calhoun

The Calhoun Literary Society held a short but very interesting meeting last Friday night. The society was called to order by the president, Mr. Wolfe, and led in prayer by Mr. Baker. The orator, Mr. Walker, was first on the program. He chose for his subject, "Reveille and Women." By deduction he proved both are very closely related, in that if you insist on over-indulgence in either your finish will come sooner or later. Mr. Dowling read a very interesting article entitled, "Patent Alarm Beds." The society unanimously decided that this new invention is not permissible in the house-holds of newlyweds. "Brevity is the Soul of Wit." Mr. Carey certainly illustrated this old adage to perfection by the numerous jokes he gave. The debate, Resolved, "That a larger school tax should be levied in order to maintain better high schools in South Carolina." The debaters proved that they had given the subject careful consideration. The affirmative was ably upheld by Messrs. Madden and Sanders, and the negative by Messrs. Mellette and Woodie. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. Mr. Campbell, an old member just returned to college, favored the society with a short and interesting talk. There being no further business the society adjourned.

THE MEN OF FIBER GET TOGETHER

A meeting of the textile students was held in the "Hall of Fame" on Thursday night for the purpose of organizing a society of textile engineers. After a short talk by Prof. Doggett on the object and purpose of this organization, the following officers were elected: T. S. Jackson, president; O. F. Covington, vice-president; C. H. Franks, treasurer; M. T. Dunlap, secretary. The following men were appointed as a committee to draw up the constitution and by-laws of the society: Prof. Willis, chairman; W. L. Whitaker, J. G. Gage, and F. L. Mayes.

Messrs. J. E. Garvin, M. B. Randle, and D. Coleman were appointed as a committee, with Prof. Blair as chairman, to arrange the programs for the meetings.

A motion was then put before the house and unanimously carried, that all of the textile professors be made honorary members of the society, with Prof. Doggett as honorary president.

Prof. Doggett then gave a very interesting talk on the textile industry and the opportunities it offers to the young man of today. There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

ROYSTER'S FERTILIZERS

There is a Royster brand for every crop. The Practical experience of 31 years is combined with the scientific experience of highly paid experts, with the results that the FSR brands, for whatever purpose, give the correct proportions of plant food derived from the materials particularly suited to the crop for which it is intended. The difference in production attests the effectiveness of these methods.
